

"Cast Your Own Pod"

Podcasting Workshop

Date and time*

Class Description:

Learn the building blocks of hosting and producing your own podcast. Develop your concept, learn how to structure an episode, discover thoughtful interview techniques and basic sound editing.

With feedback from your fellow classmates, each participant will create one 10-20min pilot podcast episode.

Access to a computer is required (ideally something portable like a laptop or tablet to bring to class) as well as an MP3 recorder and microphone, however a smartphone would suffice for our purposes!

Instructor Bio:

Jane Testar is an actor and write who has been making comedy for more than two decades, both with the musical improv company Outside Joke, and sketch comedy group Hot Thespian Action. Writing and performing sketch gave her the opportunity to write comedy for CBC Radio, eventually leading her to host the CBC Comedy Factory Podcast starting in 2015.
